

CDSM PhD-Award 2019

The Graduate Course in Molecular Sciences (CDSM), supported by the Società Chimica Italiana – Sezione Veneto, annually awards a prize to a PhD-student which during her/his PhD-program has performed research of excellent quality and novelty. Eligible candidates for the award need to have defended their PhD-thesis in the year the prize is awarded. For the year 2019 this regards PhD-students of the 31th cycle.

The prize consists of an award certificate, a gift, and an invitation to present the research during the annual PhD-forum of CDSM.

To participate in the selection, each candidate needs to send the following documents:

1. CV - complete with email-address and telephone number (max. 2 pages)
2. Abstract of the PhD-thesis in English (max. 4 pages)
3. A list of all publications (including the most recent impact factor for each publication)
4. A support letter from the PhD-supervisor

The documents need to be combined in a single PDF and send exclusively via email to the following address: dottorati.chimica@unipd.it indicating in the subject-line: 'PhD-Award 2019 Name Candidate'. The deadline for submission is April 29, 2019.

The applications will be evaluated by a Committee composed of the Coordinator of CDSM, members of the Advisory Board and the president of the Consiglio Direttivo of the SCI-Sezione Veneto or her/his delegate.

Looking forward to your participation,

Prof. Leonard Prins
Coordinator of the Graduate Course in Molecular Sciences
